

Everyone Should Know How to Swim

Statistics. Oh, Yeah?

The Boy Scouts wound up a water carnival at Hope's Fair park pool last night, and a Red Cross life-saving expert will be giving a week's course at the same municipal pool here beginning next Monday.

All of which points to the one great value of the city-owned pool which $40,000 in public funds built and opened last year — the creating of a facility which will enable this generation to learn how to swim.

It is incredible how many people have never taken time to learn how to swim. You would think it's just as practical a bit of knowledge as knowing how to read and write — and certainly the learning of it ought to be just as compulsory.

For as long as our planet has water on it people are going to find themselves unexpectedly caught in circumstances where even a small knowledge of how to keep afloat for a time may make the difference between life and death.

Once upon a time this writer was caught in the undertow at Atlantic City, was whisked out beyond the end of mile-long Steel Pier, along with another young fellow — and if I hadn't had some elementary knowledge of how to keep afloat neither of us would be here today. That was in 1920. You never forget — and no one ever knows when emergency is about to camp on his personal doorstep.

The statistical manufacturers in Washington put it on the wire yesterday that America now has the highest unemployment persons — the highest total since January 1942.

It's a yarn of doubtful importance. Somebody has to pretend to earn a living in Washington, so they put some clerks to work counting out figures.

Actually, this is a bigger country today than it was in 1942 — and because of the war more people have been accustomed to expect jobs, whether they need them or have skill, or not.

More people are employed today than in 1942 — and that's the important thing. Figures have to be screened carefully by the private citizen to distinguish between what is truth and what is propaganda, when the source is a government bureau that may be "conditioning" John Public for a larger tax grab.

AFL to Spend Millions to Lick Senators

Boston, Aug. 4 —(AP)—The American Federation of Labor is planning to cross party lines in a history-making, million-dollar-plus campaign to defeat four senators and reelect eight others in 1950. Joseph D. Keenan, AFL director of political education, told a press conference held in connection with the Massachusetts federation of labor convention that this is the AFL's 1950 aim.

"We elect a congress which will vote for the issues the people want," the labor organization, he said, "will try to defeat" these senators: Frank B. Rowan (R-Ohio), Capehart (R-Indiana), Donnell (R-Missouri) and McNamara (R-California).

The AFL, he said, will support these senators: McMahon (D-Connecticut), McNamara (D-Pennsylvania), H. H. "Burrhead" H. H. (D-Pennsylvania), Morse (R-Oregon), Thomas Aiken (R-Vermont).

Keenan said the AFL planned to spend $1,000,000 or more on "the most intensive campaign" in its history.

Funds will be raised by $2 a session, he said.

Compromise on Arms Plan Refused

Washington, Aug. 4 —(AP)—President Truman today rejected suggestions that he compromise in his request for $1,450,000,000 for arms aid to friendly nations.

Mr. Truman indicated at his news conference, however, that he does not oppose suggested congressional efforts on his broad authority to allocate the funds and specifically nations to receive the aid. He said the arms aid bill to implement the Atlantic alliance should be passed by congress as soon as possible and that the full amount sought should be granted.

Democrats and Republicans alike have agreed that Mr. Truman may not get all that he wants in the longest for arms aid.

Members appeared determined from the amount asked even after they received figures in Soviet military strength. They had a full day of closed door sessions yesterday with arms and state department experts who helped draft the big arms aid program.

Mr. Truman said he does not care anything about blank check authority to let the arms aid pass.

He said he is content to let congress work out the details.

The important thing, he said, is to provide the money and provide it quickly.

Decline in Business Has Leveled Off

By CHARLES MOLONY

Washington, Aug. 4 —(AP)— Signs built up today of a breathing spell — but probably not a permanent halt — in business downturn that has run through 1949 so far.

A consensus produced by a top-flight official group of economists working was a team boiled down — with some "ifs" attached — to this:

1. The immediate outlook is that economic activity likely will hold at the mid-year level for the July-August-September quarter, and perhaps may rise a bit in September.

2. Longer-range prospects are darker, because it seems that, on the whole, the business downturn has not been completed and employment, production, income, and prices may continue to drift downwards from October through mid-1950.

3. The man who drew up this appraisal would not be quoted by name.

The longer-range downturn, it was noted, probably will be obscured from recognition by its place, and erratic upturns now and then in particular lines.

One sign of an economic breather or reversal was said to be "a significant change in the attitude within the last two weeks," this involving a swing toward optimism.

The "significant change" was reported by a strategically-placed Washington official with an unblemished character, to keep in touch with business thought in all parts of the nation and to get a bearing on its general direction.

Business psychology has been given a leading role in administration analyses of the causes of the economic downturn that has been in progress since last fall.

The official making the observation wouldn't permit identification, but he did say that some of the "combinations of factors" he said had worked to effect a comparatively quick shift away from pessimism in business sentiment.

The surprise appearance of orders for an increased quantity of goods, he noted, has turned up, increasing production by many concerns that had curtailed output earlier.

President Truman's announcement against a move to keep the no-tax expectation, he said, had previously by congress. Also, easy credit policies and the inflationary effects of deficit financing by government.

Confidence catching hold from the firm recent climb of the stock market as "buyers came to the conclusion they (stocks) were bargains" and should be bought before their prices went up.

Nevertheless, the official did not say that the "changed attitude" would necessarily reverse the downturn in business, although he was sure it would be a strong force in so doing if it persists.

He said that his remarks implied, when businessmen think business is going to get worse — leaving them stuck with high cost goods in a period of decline — they order less from manufacturers.

Much of the latter to cut production and lay off workers.

To Wind Up Sanity Test of Mrs. Beck

New York, Aug. 4 —(AP)— The defense lawyer at the "lonely hearts" murder trial hopes to wind up today his hours-long question about the sanity of Fay Martha Beck.

Defense Counsel Herbert E. Rosenberg—lanky and over six feet tall—developed a stiff neck and sore tonsils yesterday before he had completed reading from the testimony to frame his hypothetical question.

Dr. Richard H. Hoffman, defense psychiatrist, was called back to the witness stand today to hear more of the same.

By leading from the 29-year-old Mrs. Beck's outburst in the courtroom, Rosenberg hopes to prove she was insane when Mrs. Janet Fay, 66-year-old Albany, N. Y. widow, was slain last Jan. 4.

Much of Mrs. Beck's testimony concerned abnormal sex relations with her co-defendant, Raymond Fernandez, 34.

The defense contends Fernandez had part in the bludgeoning and strangulation of Mrs. Fay, which allegedly grew from a scheme to swindle lonely women through mail romances.

13 Violent Deaths in Arkansas So Far This Week

By The Associated Press

This week's toll of accidents and violence in Arkansas has risen to 13 Thursday.

Three Negro children drowned in the Arkansas river at Little Rock Wednesday. They were Susie Mae Edwards, 11, her brother, Carl, 10, and Charles Davis, nine. Their deaths brought to five the number from drowning.

Near El Dorado Charles Horne, 30, an independent logging contractor, was killed in the explosion of a homemade acetylene torch.

Previously this week two persons drowned, two others were shot to death, one died after a scuffle, two died in falls, one was electrocuted and another suffocated.

French Bathing Suits Are Denounced — by a Couple of Delegates to Nudist Meet

Morrison, Colo., Aug. 4. —(UP)— Two young ladies—completely nude, themselves—today denounced French bathing suits as "the most sex-provocative things in existence."

The girls, both from Topeka, Kan., were attending the national nudist convention here. They asked to be called simply Mildred and Mary.

They said the flimsy French bathing suits were far more sexy than no clothes at all.

"Besides, they're absolutely useless for swimming purposes," said Mary.

They said nobody at such gatherings as the nudist convention ever noticed anyone else's nakedness.

About 500 sun-lovers from all parts of the nation hiked around secluded Deer Creek canyon in their birthday suits as the American sunbathing association's four-day convention went into its second day.

All of the nudists were careful to explain that they went back to nature for health's sake alone.

But they admitted that sunbathing bothers them as much as other people.

"We blondes have to take our sun in small doses," said a sweet young thing from California. "See how I blister?"

The nudists didn't have to worry about the sun yesterday, however. It was a cold, drizzly day and all but the strongest-willed donned jackets and toiled umbrellas.

The sun came out late in the morning, however, and the temperature rose quickly.

A peeping Tom gave them some trouble. But not for long.

The man was caught on a hillside as he peered at the camp through a three-foot telescope.

Husky male nudists hauled him down into the valley and told him to "take a good look" at the men, women and children playing and talking in the nude around him.

Then they held a "kangaroo court" and sentenced him to join them in their nudism. Embarrassed, the peeper shed his clothes and reluctantly joined in a game of volleyball.

"What will I tell my wife when I get home?" he whimpered.

Fair Weather in Prospect for the Central U. S. A.

Chicago, Aug. 4 —(AP)— Fair and pleasant weather was in prospect for most of the central states today but there were some hot spots in the east and in parts of the western states.

Cloudy skies and humid weather were reported in the Atlantic coast states. Rainfall in some areas measured more than one inch. Hot weather was general in the Rockies and the northern plains, except in eastern Colorado. Rain fell in some parts of the hot belt.

Cotton Begins Annual Trek to the Coast

Washington, Aug. 3 — The government started this week the vast job of rounding up and transporting several million bales of cotton to big warehouse points at seaport and cotton mill centers.

The main objective of this enterprise is to clear warehouses in cotton-producing areas to make way for a big new crop coming up. Officials said that if that were not done, there might be a critical shortage of storage for the new crop.

The cotton being moved by the government is that portion of the 1948-crop surplus which was stored in interior points under the government's price support program.

Cotton still under price support loans as of July 31 was taken over by the agriculture department's commodity credit corporation.

Full title was taken by the CCC as payment for price-supporting loans advanced to its producers.

No final figures were available today, but officials said the quantity taken over by the government was about 3,225 bales, involving a federal investment of roughly $150 a bale.

The 1948 surplus taken over by the government represents about 75 per cent of the current domestic supply.

The government will place its 1948 surplus in a so-called "pool" for possible benefit of growers.

Says Melons Are State's Real Gold

Now about that buried gold they are looking for in Arkansas —

Prosecuting Attorney James H. Pilkinton, of Hope, wrote his friend Attorney General Ike Murry on July 30:

"Dear Ike: The client of the woman lawyer in Pennsylvania who wrote to you about the gold is nearer right than most people suspect."

"If you will furnish us with the lady's name, we will forward her one or more of Hope's famous watermelons, and after tasting it, I feel certain that both attorney and client will conclude that the gold cache has been definitely located — in the soil of southwest Arkansas — and that instead of taking $200,000 out of the state, it is a matter of time before we invest an equal amount therein."

To which Attorney General Murry replied August 3:

"Dear Jim: The name of the lawyer in Pennsylvania who desires to latch on to the gold coins is Miss Helen M. Wilcox, 507 Walnut avenue, West Philadelphia 43, Pa."

"I certainly am glad to know that all my troubles are now over. As I understand, you offer to send me one of the famous Hope watermelons and I am sure that she will agree that."

What Are They Looking for on a Quiz Show? Just Nice People Audience Will Like

By HAL BOYLE

New York —(AP)— One lady in the radio studio audience waved some lingerie over her head. Another held up her squeaking chicken.

They were trying to attract the attention of an announcer selecting contestants from the audience to appear on a quiz program.

"But that isn't the way to get on a quiz show," agreed Mark Goodson, the Bill Toldman. "We aren't looking for screwballs."

These two young men — both under 40 — are authorities on how to be chosen to appear on the radio giveaways. They've picked thousands of contestants for the five network quiz shows they produce—Stop The Music Winner Take All, Hit the Jackpot, Beat the Clock and Spin to Win.

What do they look for in the great brains in the studio, said Toldman. "We're looking for nice people the audience will like."

"Yes," said Goodson. "We want to avoid people who are off balance. There is a very thin line between the pleasant, extravert and the real screwball, who may do anything once he gets on the air."

The art in setting selected as a contestant lies in attracting the announcer's eye without scaring him away by being too brash or anxious.

"A bald man is more likely to be picked, for example, than a man with hair," said Goodson. But he is wearing a necktie that flashes off and on like an electric sign, we don't want him. He's trying too hard."

Women wearing white gloves and a large hat also are likely to be chosen merely because they stand out to the announcer as he passes through the audience in the program warmup period looking for contestants. But a woman wearing flashy jewelry is automatically rejected.

"People don't like to see any one with money who already knows as if he had more than he needed," explained Goodson.

The producers make every attempt to keep from putting on "semi-pros" — men or women with little to do who go from studio to studio trying to get on as many programs as possible.

They turn down anyone who, when asked why he wants to be a contestant, replies "to win a prize."

"He may be completely honest," said Goodson, "but the listeners often get the impression such a person is too selfish."

Over the years the producers have found that housewives often make better contestants than college teachers.

"The housewife doesn't feel she has to prove she's smart, so she is more relaxed," said Toldman.

They also have learned that men or women from the south or southwest part of America make the best contestants on a geographic basis.

"It isn't that they are any more intelligent or better informed," remarked Goodson. "They are simply more friendly and honey-talking."

The New Englander is often too laconic — too brief in his answers. On the other hand the New Yorker tends to be over aggressive.

"Oh, I'd say it would be a young man from Fort Worth, Tex., studying to be a doctor and married to a girl who was working to help him get his degree," said Goodson.

"It would help if the wife had just had a baby," laughed Toldman. "The audience loves young fathers."

State Roads May Back Up on Counties

By BOB BROWN

United Press Staff Correspondent Little Rock, Aug. 4 —(UP)— A threat to cut low-traffic roads off the state highway system revived interest today in a local-financing plan being tried in one Arkansas county.

County judges and state highway officials differ on Gov. Sid McMath's proposal to give some state roads back to the counties, both agreeing that they are watching litigation on Lee county's vehicle tax.

J. B. Lambert, chairman of the state highway commission, declared that he believes the county tax is the answer to the county road problem in the state.

Echoing the governor's statement that there are too many "dead-end" and low-traffic roads on the state highway system, Lambert said, "I definitely think Lee county is something which other counties must assume responsibility for."

The plan allows those who use the roads to pay the bill and provides a means where the people can help themselves if they want to.

Sooner or later, he said, the counties must assume responsibility for the rural roads leading to the state highways.

Lee county citizens last November approved a county license fee on all vehicles. County Judge O. B. Harris said the fee was $200 on the levy, ranging from 2 on buggies to $10 on passenger cars and up to $75 on busses, would produce from $50,000 to $60,000 per year.

Matched with federal money, he said, it would construct several miles of good roads.

Several cities have been collecting license fees for street construction for some time but this approach is the first time that a county has tried to plan.

Despite the fact that the Arkansas Supreme Court has been asked to decide the validity of the tax, Judge Harris said he saw no reason why the plan shouldn't work out satisfactorily. It was upheld by Chancellor A. L. Hutchins after taxpayers George Allen and D. J. Coleman contended it provided for double taxation and was discriminatory.

Battered Old Telephone Directory Leads Father Back to Son After 43-Year Lapse

Detroit, Aug. 4 —(AP)— An ailing man's long search for the son he lost 43 years ago seemed hopeless. He feared he would die before he found him.

Then, by a strange quirk of fate, a tramp on a San Francisco dock offered to sell him a worn Detroit telephone directory. He bought it for 25 cents.

Because of that, William Geddes, 67, is going to see his son again.

Detroit Attorney Harold Geddes, 44, told today how he talked by phone with his father who is in a San Francisco hospital.

"For the first few seconds he couldn't say anything but hello," Harold said. "He was all choked up. Then he told me some of the things that had happened."

The elder Geddes, a railroad engineer, disappeared mysteriously from his home in Rochester, N. Y., in 1906. He left behind his wife and two small sons. The family never heard from him again. His wife, now dead, remarried.

William told his son he had gone to California found another wife and started life anew. He had a son and daughter by his second wife.

New Vitamin May Aid Low Income Group

Fayetteville, Aug. 3 —(AP)—A research to determine whether a new vitamin will improve the diet of low income families in the south has been started at the University of Arkansas.

The study will be made to investigate whether the new vitamin B12 will provide vegetable proteins with the same factors now found in meat proteins, the office of President Lewis W. Jones announced today.

Dr. Barnett Sure, head of the department of agricultural chemistry at the college of agriculture, will direct the research.

He said B12 seems to be synonymous with the animal protein factor. Meat proteins contain this factor. Vegetable proteins do not. Lack of this animal protein factor in grains and vegetables, Dr. Sure said, is one of the reasons most people must eat meat to remain healthy.

Diets of large sections of the population in the south are deficient in proteins as well as vitamins. The addition of B12 to such high protein containing foods, such as soybean, cottonseed and peanut natory, vague, indefinite and contradictory.

At least two other county judges, L. A. Mashburn of Pulaski county and Carl Adams of Perry county, plan, Adams, as president of the joined Lambert in praising the plan. Adams, as president of the state county judges association, said "several of our judges would like to see this plan put over."

Pointing out that most counties are short of funds for matching federal money, Adams said "our organization may take some action later."

While backing tax, Adams mailed no punches in condemning Gov. McMath's announcement that he would ask the 1951 legislature to authorize the highway commission to trim some 2,000 miles from the state system.

"I know that as far as the judges are concerned, we are not for it," he said. "We've got more miles of road to maintain now than we've got money to handle. Any attempt to give any of the roads back to the counties would run into a lot of opposition."

County judges operate on an extremely short budget under the 3-mill property tax which may be levied under the state constitution. However, he said he knew of no plans to revive efforts to raise the ceiling on the tax.

Several counties, including Lee, Crittenden, Lonoke and Prairie, have resorted to voluntary tax levies improvement districts or voluntary contributions in an effort to match federal funds. Others have managed to salvage state turnback money for matching purposes.

However, records at the state highway department show that only 32 counties have been able to match any part of the $890,000 in federal funds which the state highway commission sets aside annually for county road construction.

Many Public Places Closed Due to Polio

By United Press
Many communities closed schools and banned public gatherings of children today following a sharp increase in polio cases during the past week.

At Chicago, public health officials issued a special warning on anti-polio precautions. They said personal cleanliness was one of the biggest factors in avoiding the disease.

Several Wisconsin communities closed their swimming pools and Brookfield township in Waukesha county banned all public gatherings of children, including Sunday schools, after five cases broke out. The University of Wisconsin cancelled its orchestral and choral music clinic for high school students.

The Iowa Health department advised six counties to "discourage" large public meetings and the city of Dubuque cancelled all public assemblies of children under 17. One of the state's counties called off its fair.

In New York state, the town of Springville was sprayed with DDT from airplanes as a precaution.

The U. S. public health service said 1,968 new cases were reported for the week ended July 30, a 38 per cent increase over the previous week. The biggest increases were in the middle Atlantic and North Central states. New York had 200 new cases, Missouri 194, Michigan 149 and Illinois 133.

The National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis said it sent more nurses and equipment into hard-hit areas last week than during any other week of the year. The

The Story: A wealthy widow, Mrs. Everson, has fled with her servants in two giant trailers to escape destruction in an atomic war which she believes is impending. In the party, which at last has reached a canyon in the mountains which Mrs. Everson says is safe, are Mrs. Malone, cook and housekeeper; the Marchese Dellacasa, Mrs. Everson's companion; Rudy, the handsome chauffeur, and Victor, the houseboy. Mrs. Everson is in love with Rudy, who thinks of her only in terms of her wealth. Mrs. Everson has purchased two rabbits from a hunter for a dinner celebrating their arrival at "a place of safety," and now she is dressed in her best dining with the Marchese. But outside the atmosphere is heavy, as if the blow had fallen. Mrs. Malone wonders will there be a world after the atom bombs fall?

Mrs. Malone groped up the steep bank and toward the glow of green light that indicated the small trailer.

"Dinner," Rudy announced.

"Where's Victor?"

"He's coming as soon as Mrs. Everson and the Marchese have finished their coffee. Do you know what time it is?"

Rudy glanced at his wrist.

"Eleven ten. Sit down. You look all in. Don't wait for Victor."

While she ate, Mrs. Malone described the dinner party and Mrs.

Polio Cases May Hit Record 600 Total for State

Little Rock, Aug. 3.—(AP)—Polio myelitis probably will hit a record 600 mark before it slows out of Arkansas this year, the state health department predicted today.

So far this year the disease has hospitalized a total of 317 persons and has snuffed out the lives of 29.

Dr. T. T. Ross, department director, said four new cases were reported in Arkansas during the 24-hour period ended at 11 a.m. today.

He said the outbreak of polio full title was taken by the CCC added that additional cases probably will crop up before the disease dies out this fall.

Morgan Quits as Pulaski Farm Head

Little Rock, Aug. 3.—(AP)—W. T. Morgan has resigned as superintendent of the Pulaski county penal farm, which has been under investigation following the death of a prisoner, Richard A. Clift, 30, of Malvern.

Clift, serving out a drunkenness fine, was found dead in his cell. Morgan refused to work in the fields, the superintendent reported.

He died later of what Dr. Howard A. Dishongh, Pulaski coroner, said was heat exhaustion, unconciousness and beating.

However, an autopsy was planned today at the request of Clift's father. The body was sent to Hot Springs for the examination.

Morgan said use of the lash was necessary to maintain discipline. He offered to cooperate in any way in the investigation.

FRECKLED NOBILITY—Herbert Harris, 11, takes a magnified look at Sally Brady, 9, after they were chosen King and Queen of the Chicago Railroad Fair. pline. He offered to cooperate in any way in the investigation.

Little Rock, Aug. 4.—(AP)—A second autopsy hasn't shed any light on the death of Richard A. Clift, 30, at the Pulaski county prison farm last week.

The autopsy was conducted last night at Hot Springs, where Clift's relatives requested his body be sent.

Afterward Dr. D. C. Lee said he wouldn't express an opinion on cause of death until after a microscopic study of body tissues, an examination requiring several weeks. He said the fact the body had been embalmed and the week's lapse from the time of death made immediate termination of the cause impossible.

Clift died July 27. He was serving out a fine for drunkenness at the prison farm. On the day of his death Supt. W. T. Morgan had given him seven lashes for refusal to work, but Dr. Howard A. Dishongh, Pulaski coroner, said heat exhaustion and not the lashing, caused death. Morgan later resigned.

The Pulaski county grand jury is to consider the case tomorrow.

County Salary Act for Arkansas Co. May Be Invalid

Little Rock, Aug. 3.—(AP)—Arkansas county may be operating under an invalid salary act, the state comptroller's office indicated today.

In an audit of Arkansas county affairs for 1948 showed the county is operating under Act 80 of the 1945 legislature.

Aubrey McCasland, county audit supervisor of the comptroller's office, said today Act 80 of 1945 attempts to amend initiated Act No. 1 of Arkansas county approved in November, 1945. He added that the Arkansas Supreme court has held that the legislature does not have authority to amend a local initiated salary act.

The Arkansas county showed that the accounts of all officials are in good condition. The county ended the year with a general fund surplus of $18,450.

Beck Is New Prospect for GOP Post

Washington, Aug. 4.—(AP)—Opponents of Guy G. Gabrielson of New Jersey today brought out Alex J. Beck of South Dakota as their dark horse candidate for Republican national chairman.

Beck, 53, farmer lawyer and comparative newcomer to the committee, was being supported by friends of Rep. Hugh S. Scott, Jr., of Pennsylvania retiring chairman.

Gabrielson is a 58-year-old New Jersey lawyer and industrialist. He backed the unsuccessful presidential candidacy of Senator Robert A. Taft of Ohio last year.

Scott, quitting after a stormy year as chairman, supported Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York, who won the nomination.

Beck's friends say he has no present preference for the party's 1952 presidential nomination. He was endorsed for Scott's job by his state's congressional delegation.

Although anti-Gabrielson forces were lined up behind Beck, no conferences were going on. Another dark horse candidate might possibly emerge from these.

Spanish Loan Thrown Out by Barkley

Washington, Aug. 4.—(AP)—Vice President Barkley today ruled $50,000,000 in loans to Spain out of the European recovery program.

Barkley held that an amendment sponsored by Senator McCarran (D-Nev.) violates senate rules against writing new legislation into an appropriation bill.

Democratic Leader Lucas of Illinois challenged the McCarran amendment. And then McCarran appealed the Barkley ruling.

Barkley then told the senate Spain is not entitled under the economic cooperation administration act to participate in the recovery program.

Spain has not adhered to the basic requirements of the act, the vice president said, and to admit Spain into the program would be a violation of the terms of the act.

Michigan State's track team this season won the ICA triple crown — the cross-country indoor and outdoor championships.

Draft Law Probably Will Die

Washington, Aug. 4 —(AP)—Senators today said the peacetime draft act probably will be allowed to die next June 25 unless defense officials anticipate an emergency. Chairman Tydings (D-Md.) of the armed services committee said this was a subject of a secret session with Secretary Gray and General J. Lawton Collins, vice chief of staff for the army.

After the conference, from which even committee staff members were excluded, Tydings said no action on selective service appears necessary at this session.

He said congress would meet again next January in time to consider an extension or revision. Last year, after much dispute, congress enacted a peacetime selective service act. Under it men 19 through 25 years were subject to draft for 21 months.

No draft calls have been made since January of this year because volunteers have more than filled quotas for the armed services.

Checks for Welfare in State Larger

Little Rock, Aug. 4 —(AP)—Larger checks have been sent to 68,740 Arkansas welfare clients for the month of August, Mrs. Henry Bethel, state welfare commissioner said today.

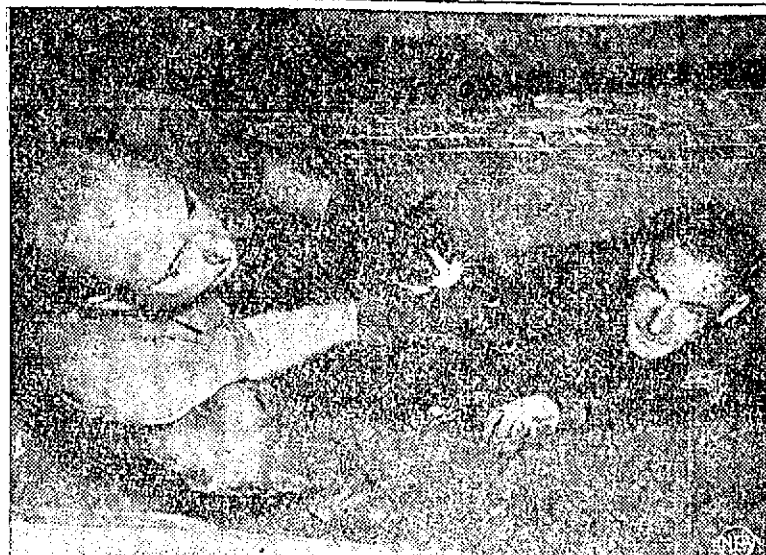

The increase was made possible by the higher welfare department appropriation for the 1949-51 fiscal years.

Mrs. Bethel said the increased welfare payments would average about $25 a month.

Records show the 68,740 checks for August amounted to $1,914,048. The number of cases is slightly under the July total, but Mrs. Bethel said the department usually makes a supplementary payment each month to cases which were not certified in time to receive the first of the month checks.

"My staff assures me the total of cases will be back up to the July level by then," she said.

The welfare department pay-

DOROTHY DIX Vacation for Mother

Dear Miss Dix: I am taking my first and only vacation in twenty-five years of married life, and enjoying it tremendously. But in my month's absence from home hubby has lost fourteen pounds in weight. My daughter, 22 years old, is getting weak over her job of household tasks and cooking. My son will not stay in the house much because he cannot see me around. And my pet dog and cat are refusing to eat, and wander from room to room hunting me. Just must cut short my holiday and go back to keep the home together. So much for mother's vacation. What do you say to that?

Answer: Why I'd say that any woman who is that important to her family should feel that she is one of the kingpins that hold the universe together. And I am sure she must be so proud and happy that her very heart must sing for joy.

But your story proves my contention that every wife and mother should take a vacation away from her family every year, not only for her own sake, but for the sake of her husband and children. It gives her a chance to see the world from a different perspective on her and see just how much they need her.

You see, when we are with people all the time we unconsciously get to take them and what they do for granted. The household runs along on greased wheels. Things are always clean and neat and orderly. There is always a light burning in the window when husband and children come home at night. There is always someone to nurse if one is sick and to sympathize if one is in trouble. But we get so accustomed to this that we don't notice it.

We somehow feel that home just sort of automatically runs itself and that there is some magic that conjures up tasty dinners and fresh clothes and makes beds, and sweeps floors, and that mother hasn't much to do with it, and that while it is nice to have her around, she is by no means a necessity.

So that is why every wife and mother should insist on a vacation. She not only goes back home rested and refreshed herself, but to be better loved and appreciated by her family.

Happy is the woman who is necessary to her family. No greater tribute could be paid to her worth than that her husband loses weight in her absence and that even the cat and dog go from room to room hunting her.

DOROTHY DIX

Dear Miss Dix: You speak of the failure of American husbands to give their wives romance. Perhaps you can tell how long a wife would stand perpetual petting from any man, even her husband. You seem to overlook the fact that a man who works hard all day hasn't time to think of soft things to say to his wife when he gets home. It seems to me that if a wife attends to her work properly she will not notice whether her husband is indifferent or not, so why blame a husband's indifference when the real cause is the wife's idleness and selfish desire to be waited on?

Answer: You got the wrong Mr. Man, if you think that I advocated a man's knocking off work and spending his time sighing at his wife's feet. I think that the low which doesn't express itself in deeds hasn't much substance, and that a man can sit with beefsteaks just as much as he can with violets.

Nor do I advise any man to turn himself into a kissing bug. Any normal man who gets fed up on that kind of thing in very short order. Sentiment and caresses are like chocolate candy — delicious to nibble on and every woman has a sweet tooth but cloying as a candy diet.

But there is a difference, isn't there, Mr. Man, between a man's neglecting his wife and paying her a few well-deserved attentions?

It seems to me that even the Third Business Man is not so utterly exhausted but that he could notice what his wife has on and some of the things she has done during the day to make him happy and comfortable, and mention them to her if he really sensed that the poor creature would consider this adequate pay for her labor.

A man doesn't work any harder after marriage than he did before marriage. While he was courting his wife, he found strength enough to spend from three to four hours an evening telling her how beautiful and wonderful and different from all other women she was, and how much he admired her. So I think he naturally mentions it now and then after marriage. And, believe me, Mr. Man, no woman ever works so hard that she ceases to notice whether her husband is indifferent or not. When she does that, it is because she doesn't care.

DOROTHY DIX

Dear Miss Dix: I am a woman of 37, with a only little property and I have been married for 10 years, and I am in love with a widower, a man of 63, who is a splendid man in every respect. Are we too old to marry?

Answer: Not a bit of it. A man of 63 is only in his prime in these days. There is no reason why you two should not marry and have many years of happy and congenial life together.

Truman Refuses to Let Eleanor Roosevelt Resign

Washington, Aug. 4 —(AP)—President Truman said today that he had rejected an offer by Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt to resign from her United Nations post. He said she will return to the next general assembly as a delegate.

The President said that no reference to Mrs. Roosevelt's controversy with Francis Cardinal Spellman over federal benefits to parochial schools was contained in her letter.

He described it as the routine formal offer to resign that virtually all holders of diplomatic posts sent in regularly.

A reporter brought up the subject at Mr. Truman's weekly news conference. The newsmen said he had been told that the widow of the late president had offered to resign her post with the United Nations. (She is a member of the human rights commission.)

Mr. Truman replied promptly that Mrs. Roosevelt offers her resignation every year. In the last case, he said, she expressed no reason. Asked if he will accept the resignation, Mrs. Truman replied she's going back to the United Nations.

The situation "shaped up like this after the first full week of committee consideration of the program sent to congress last week by Mr. Truman:

1. There is heavy sentiment to curb the broad grants of presidential authority, proposed and spell out, as closely as possible, the amount of assistance to be given, the nations to receive it, and the

Californians in Finals of VFW Softball Tourney

Texarkana, Aug. 4 —(AP)—Whittier, Calif., advanced to the finals of the national VFW softball tournament by whipping St. Joseph, Mo., 4-0, last night.

New Orleans and Flora, Ill., winners earlier this week, will compete for the other finalist spot Friday night. The champions game will be Saturday night.

In other games last night Abilene, Tex., defeated Magnolia, Ark., 5-1, and Pocatello, Idaho, defeated Texarkana, 6-2. In the junior division Texarkana defeated Memphis, 10-0, and Okmulgee, Okla., defeated Abilene, 7-1.

Conditions under which it shall be provided.

2. There is substantial sentiment for a sharp cut in the amount and duration of the program.

Instead of approving an arms aid plan to run through June 30, 1950, many committee members favor limiting it to next March 31, with the idea that congress can take another look in January and extend it if necessary. Those supporting this proposal would cut the financial authorization at least in half.

House leaders have not set a timetable for full house debate. They hope to have the bill on the house floor around the middle of the month.

The expert witnesses who testified yesterday were recalled to town. They are Major General Lyman L. Lemnitzer, Edward T. Dickinson, Jr., and Dr. Lloyd Berkner, members of the government's foreign assistance errand committee. A formal committee announcement at the end of the session said they gave "detailed information about the specific types of equipment" proposed to be given to friendly nations fearful of Soviet encroachment.

The announcement said nothing about the units each nation would get. Committee members said privately France and Great Britain would be cut in for the lion's share because of their importance militarily.

Appointment of the committee followed Youngdahl's charge that records of the state investment board were falsified to hide a secret deal for the purchase of $5,208,000 worth of Arkansas highway bonds.

May Solve Strike of Reynolds Co

Little Rock, Aug. 4 —(P)— Both the president of Reynolds Metals company and a spokesman for some 1,600 striking workers of the company in Arkansas say the interests they represent are ready to resume negotiations.

Nevertheless, there hadn't been any move today toward new talks in an effort to settle the strike, which started Monday after the two sides couldn't agree on a contract.

At Louisville, Ky., Richard S. Reynolds, Jr. said yesterday "we are ready and willing to continue negotiations at any time in order to reach an agreement."

In a reply from Benton C. E. Smith, sub-director for the CIO Steel Workers of America, said the union also was "ready."

A conference between union and management representatives, which had been announced for yesterday, didn't materialize. State Labor Commissioner C. K. Call said mediators felt nothing would have been gained by it.

Affected by the strike are Reynolds aluminum plants at Jones Mill and Hurricane Creek and the company's bauxite mines.

Prime Minister Attlee Recovers From Severe Cold

London, Aug. 4 —(P)— Prime Minister Attlee has "quite recovered" from a cold which had confined him to his country home since last Saturday, an official spokesman said today. The cold forced him to cancel a weekend speaking engagement.

Fulbright and McClellan Split Votes

Washington, Aug. 4 —(P)— Senator Fulbright voted against his colleague, Senator McClellan, yesterday in another test on McClellan's foreign aid amendment.

The amendment would require that $1,250,000,000 of European recovery funds be spent for surplus U. S. farm crops.

The vote was whether to sustain Vice President Barkley's ruling that the amendment was new legislation subject to a point of order. Fulbright voted for the ruling; McClellan against it.

The ruling was upheld, 52-32.

ROUGH SAILING ON ITS WAY OUT—This will be the coming thing in large passenger ships and luxury liners, according to speedboat designer and manufacturer Gar Wood. It's the Venturi, Wood's newest design, shown in Detroit. The twin-hulled yacht is said to be able to ride the roughest type of water and still maintain its even keel. Wood says the unique "tunnel" construction pockets air on which the craft rides, preventing rough sailing even in heavy seas at high speed.

MacArthur's Dissolution of Family Trusts Is Profound Economic Change for Japan

By JAMES D. WHITE
AP Foreign News Analyst
(For DeWitt MacKenzie)

There's bound to be a lot of argument over this:

Gen. MacArthur announces that he has broken up the Zaibatsu, the economic giants of prewar Japan.

These tight family trusts were a fundamental part of Japan's economic and political fabric. They made and sold everything from needles to battleships. They bought everything from Malayan rubber to American scrap iron. In their heyday most of Japan's banking, heavy industry, and big business both at home and abroad could be traced to some 11 families through their network of holding companies and subsidiaries. They were meat and drink to the two great Japanese political parties.

The Zaibatsu (the name means "finance clique") were a latter day expression of Japan's innate feudalism. Instead of splitting each other's skulls open with big swords, the family warriors engaged first in cutthroat competition, later in mutual tolerance and cooperation as they skimmed the cream off the business of 70,000,000 Japanese.

One of the oldest Zaibatsu families, the Mitsui, dates back to the 1600's. It was founded by a professional warrior who turned winemaker.

Japan has always been run by powerful families, so her people found it not too strange to be run by family monopolies.

When Japan was opened to the outside world about 80 years ago, the Zaibatsu began pushing their own economic horizons up to and beyond Japan's new frontiers.

They made money out of World War I and were ready and willing to arm the greater Japan. They encouraged military aggression when they thought it likely to succeed, advised against it when they thought it wouldn't.

Control of Japan was a matter of a balance struck among the relative strengths of the Zaibatsu, the politicians, and the military. The Zaibatsu intermarried with all these other elements as a matter of policy as well as with the imperial family under whose figurehead rule Japan was secretly governed.

Zaibatsu trademarks — like the three-in-a-row of Mitsui and the diamond of Dai-Ichi Kangyo Bank — came almost as familiar through out Japanese occupied Asia as did the army's star and the navy's anchor.

The process went something like this: To finance an invasion, say, of north China, the government would sell bonds. The Zaibatsu would buy them, as nobody else had that much dough, and earn it back by selling arms. The army would take north China. To run its economy, it would set up so-called joint Sino-Japanese development companies, with a controlling interest in Japanese hands.

Now who do you suppose would be called upon to supply the experts to run these vast new projects? Naturally experienced men would be borrowed from Mitsui, Dai-Ichi, and other Zaibatsu outfits. Naturally, it was Mitsui, Dai-Ichi, or some subsidiary who would be on hand to supply some vital need (at a nice profit) or to buy up at cut rates the raw materials these economic stooges would gather in with the aid of army bayonets.

The Zaibatsu fought among themselves over such spoils and with the army and navy, and with the government. But the quarrels ling never was allowed to interfere too long with really big business.

At home, the Zaibatsu usually went along with measures to control labor and regiment the people. Sometimes they claimed they couldn't help themselves, and it's true some Zaibatsu folks got pushed around by churlish army characters.

But as late as 1943 — after the tide had turned against Japan and Tojo was trying to take over the nation's economy for a greater war effort — the Zaibatsu stopped cold the mightiest man in Japan. They made money even out of World War II.

Personally, most Zaibatsu people are well-educated and very charming individuals. As family firms, however, they stood for one of the most primitive things about Japan — regimentation of the nation's wealth for the benefit of the few.

Nurse Beaten, Professor Is Held

Columbia, S. C., Aug. 4 —(P)— A married university professor was in jail today after a pretty nurse was whipped with a pistol.

Blood transfusions were required for 32-year-old Ann Pierce, who was treated at a Columbia hospital for more than 100 cuts on the face and body. Her condition was considered critical.

Arthur C. Alex Heise said he was holding Russell B. Maxey, an associate professor of civil engineering at the University of South Carolina.

Maxey is 45. He will be charged with assault and battery with intent to kill if the nurse lives but if she dies the charge will be murder, Heise said.

Authorities were called to the attractive nurse's home early yesterday after a woman's screams were heard. Deputy Sheriff J. D. Dunnaway said the five-room home was splattered with blood throughout and that Miss Pierce told him Maxey hid under her bed and attacked her as she prepared to retire.

"Maxey was so exhausted x x x he couldn't move or speak at first," Dunnaway said.

He quoted Maxey as saying he loved Miss Pierce and "couldn't stand" her going with other men.

Match Story Is Latest on 5 Per Centers

By MERRIMAN SMITH
UP White House Reporter

Washington, Aug. 4 — (UPI) — President Truman said today he himself had not received any "swindled from Harry S. Truman" matches from James V. Hunt, former Army officer under investigation as a "five per center."

But Hunt's lawyer said that sent such matches to the White House last year at the suggestion of "people close to the President."

The purchase of such matches by Hunt was revealed by a Senate investigation committee.

Hunt had 2,500 boxes of matches, marked "Swindled from Harry S. Truman" manufactured for him by the Universal Match Co. of St. Louis. Paid about $10 a box, the matches were sold at a profit of $100 a box. Mr. Truman said that anybody has a right to buy what he wants to, but that is the first he had heard of this particular case.

Asked point-blank whether he had received any matches from Hunt, Mr. Truman said he had not. He said he did not know Hunt, who has described Mr. Gen. Harry H. Vaughan, President's aide, as a close friend.

The President said that a note came in an envelope and a box of boxes of matches. He said that he did not know who sent them and that the White House itself has a special brand of matches.

Hunt's attorney, Roger G. Adams, of Chicago, said boxes of "Swindled from Harry S. Truman" matches were delivered to the President's campaign train in 1948 and to the White House shortly after Thanksgiving last year.

The President does not receive matches, Adams said. He said that he had not seen any matches from Hunt. Adams said that he had not seen any matches from Hunt. Adams said that he had not seen any matches from Hunt.

The unusual thing about the "swindled" matches to a caller was a

Attack on Trial Juror Resented

Cedar Rapids, Ia., Aug. 3 —(P)— County Attorney William Crissman today declared the defense attack on a juror in the murder trial of Dr. Robert C. Rutledge, Jr., was "character assassination."

Crissman spoke today as opposing counsel presented closing arguments in a hearing on the defense motion for a new trial for the 28-year-old St. Louis pediatrician.

The defense has contended that Juror Emil Novotny was prejudiced against Dr. Rutledge and publicly declared he should be hanged. Defense Counsel Walter J. Barngrover yesterday called Novotny a perjurer.

"Wouldn't Novotny have expressed his feelings in the jury room during deliberations?" Crissman asked. "The affidavits of the other jurors show he made no attempt to influence them in any way."

Speaking about defense witness John R. Parker, Crissman said the murder case had attracted "may crackpots and publicity hounds." He said Parker was subject to hallucinations which he said was shown by his testimony yesterday. Parker had testified he feared personal violence by Novotny.

Barngrover spent 99 minutes yesterday arguing one of the 22 points in the new trial motion. The hearing is now in its third day.

Garlic Fumes Are Latest Plague for Los Angeles Folks

Los Angeles, Aug. 4 —(P)—T. foul, garlic-like odor prevailed much of Los Angeles early today.

The odor—which extended from downtown Los Angeles to Pasadena—caused hundreds of people to call newspapers and the police.

There were no hospitalizations reported although many of the callers reported they had difficulty breathing because of the foul air.

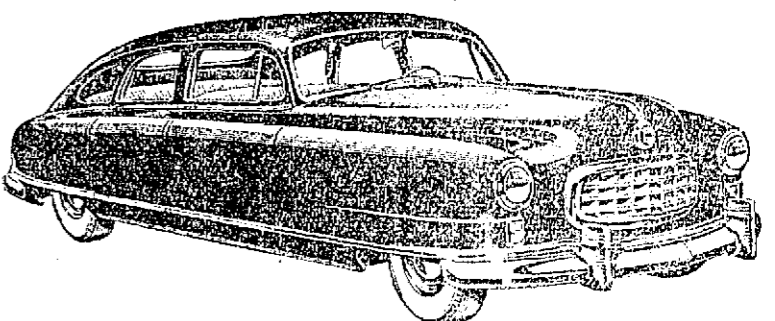

The Southern California Gas Co. sent out emergency crews to find leaks in mains but found none. A gas company spokesman said the odor was similar to that in oil refinery areas and that fog prevented the fumes from being dispersed.

They bear a replica of the President's signature. In most instances the signature of a president is not reproduced commercially without White House permission. This is a matter of custom, not law.
